How a Gaze Becomes Violence:
Representation of the North Korean
Sports Team at the PyeongChang
Olympic Games

Professor KANG, Myung Koo

The way one sees things reveals the desires of the individual as well as those constructed by society. When the two overlap, this produces a strong position that is difficult to challenge. Here, I will review the various journalistic reports made about the North Korean sports team, the delegation of representative and the cheer squad during their visit to South Korea at the PyeongChang Winter Olympics where they participated with South Korea as a unified Korean team
